FUNDING CALL

SLS Teaching Toolkit Grants

DEADLINE: Mon., Sept. 30, 2019, 5PM

Overview
SLS has grants of up to $2,000 available for faculty interested in integrating 1-2 sustainability and/or community engagement lessons or exercises into their classes by utilizing our toolkit of teaching resources. Faculty should plan to use the tool(s) in their Fall 2019, Spring 2020, or Summer 2020 courses. We expect to award approximately 10 grants.

We are particularly interested in applications from faculty who would like to use tools from the following categories:

- Equity, Justice & Sustainability
- Kendeda Building for Innovative Sustainable Design (GT Living Building)
- Using Data
- Service-Learning & Community Engagement
  - Especially the following tools:
    - Exploring Asset-Based Community Development: The Parkway Community
    - For courses with community partnerships:
      - Scope of Work
      - Collaboration Agreement

To Apply
Complete this application. Please note that applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis so that tools can be used in courses this semester, when applicable.

If you're interested in discussing this opportunity before applying, please contact SLS Teaching Toolkit Manager Molly Slavin for more information. If you are interested in learning more about the work past grant winners have carried out with the support of toolkit grants, please visit this link.
